Musicians and chemists both look for relationships between the materials of their crafts, and they both use graphical representations of these relationships. Musicians represent relationships between scales and keys using the circle of fifths. Chemists represent relationships between elements using a periodic table. These representations can bear a striking resemblance to each other.

CIRCLE OF FIFTHS

ART AND SCIENCE CONVERGE

CIRCULAR PERIODIC TABLE

